What's New In?

Scroll App is a software application that adds a new scrolling bar to the upper edge of the browser while web pages are being displayed. The difference with the normal scrollbar is that the bar itself moves along with the page, and is an important improvement in page viewing. The bar can be easily controlled by using a mouse or a trackpad device. The bar can be positioned anywhere on the page, and with a double or triple click, the whole page is moved to the position of the bar, allowing the user to easily view and navigate the page. The page can be moved back to its original position with another click. The scrolling movement of the bar is tied to the position of the mouse or trackpad device, so that scrolling moves along with the user's movement. Also, when the user tries to scroll with the mouse, the application turns the mouse wheel functionality on the computer into a scroll function of the bar. If the user leaves the scrollbar, it moves automatically back to the position of the mouse or trackpad device. The bar can be dragged and moved in different ways, giving the user a great variety of options to control the page view. Scroll App allows the user to view the page while scrolling without losing the content. It can be used for reading emails, scrolling through the web, viewing and comparing information between different webpages, etc. With the Scroll App, the user gets a special experience while browsing the web. Features: Scroll App is available for Internet Explorer 8, Internet Explorer 9, Firefox 6 and up, and Chrome 14 and up. System Requirements: Scroll App works on Windows XP, Windows Vista, Windows 7 and Windows 8 (32-bit and 64-bit). Be forewarned that the game may not run on less powerful systems. Once I get around to actually making a box for the game, I'll try to mention what platforms should and shouldn't work, but for now I'm just gonna say "try it out". Will there be an installer or do I just download it and run it?
